SPOUTSPRING, KY., JAN. 9, 1897.

NO. 48.

Buried in Whisky.

Charles Bramlette, of Robertson county, and one of the oldest inhabitants in the county, was buried at Kentontown Sunday. Some time before his death he had the coffin hewn out of stone, in which he was buried. In his cellar he kept a barrel of old Bourbon which he requested to be poured over his remains. He wanted to be buried in a silk hat. His requests were fully carried out. The total expense of his burial amounted to $1,000.

Railroad Sold.

The Kentucky Midland Railroad sold at Frankfort Monday. Attila Cox, of Louisville, bought it, his bid of $140,000 being the "upset" price. This road connects Frankfort, Georgetown and Paris, and is 40 miles long. The road cost $1,000,000 in building it, and it is generally believed that Cox bid it in for the stockholders.

A Cowardly Murder.

Lindsey Conley was slipped on and shot in the back of the head near Paintsville late Saturday evening. He died two hours later. The murderer is unknown.

MERCHANDISE.

BURGHES'S.

SIGNBOARD HUMOR.

The Youth's Journal says signboards are a perpetual source of curious lore, and mentions the following as example:

One innkeeper had on his sign the picture of a king, a bishop, a soldier and a farmer. When asked the meaning of this, he said:

"The king says 'I reign o'er all'; the bishop says, 'I pray for all'; the soldier says 'I fight for all'; the farmer says 'I pay for all.'"

The innkeeper's elucidation of his sign was about right.

Will Resign.

It is reported that Governor Bradley told a friend that it was his intention to resign the office of Governor, saying that place was killing him, and that he could not afford to stay in it until his health was entirely lost. He has also written to Mr. McKinley that he could not accept any Federal appointment.

Indictments stolen.

All the indictments that were made at the the last term of the Wolf Circuit Court, were stolen from the Clerk's office at Campton last week. There is no clue to the guilty person.

The new free silver paper, The Ledger, has appeared from Frankfurt.

W. J. Christopher is building a shed in addition to his stock barn at this place.

FREE COLUMN.

—FOR SALE—Violin. Enquire at this office.

The Shaapsburg World says all the recent bank failures are all in sates that voted for McKinly, and the bigger the McKinley majority the worse the failure.

Badly Beaten.

Last Saturday evening Tom Wade, of Estill county, who was driving some hogs to this city, met Ed Mastin, of Clay City, and Thomas Adams, of this county, who were drunk, and were very boisterous. Wade tried to avoid a difficulty but was attacked and beaten so badly that his recovery is considered doubtful. A brother of Adams came in Wednesday and wore out a warrant for Mastin, who has not yet been found.—Winchester Democrat.
